VANCOUVER DRAW DOWN. GET DRAWN IN.

FRIDAY JUNE 11-SUNDAY JUNE 13

The inaugural Vancouver Draw Down will captivate and transform the city through expanded ideas of drawing, participatory city-wide projects, multi-disciplinary events and documentary pieces. Museums, galleries, community centres and arts organizations across the city will present exhibitions and collaborative drawing projects of all shapes, sizes and media - including a city wide public drawing project. Whether you join us to draw with your pen or your bicycle wheels, on rag paper or the sidewalk, we challenge you to engage and perform, to throw down your pencil and declare: I can draw.

Look for workshops and event listings at the community centre or go to:

100 Years South Hill 1910 - 2010

Come celebrate at the 8th annual South Hill Festival:
Saturday May 29
12noon to 4pm.

Fraser Street will be car free, from 43rd to 49th and bursting with energy.

Delve into history, create art, dance and play on the street. The South Hill Festival's historical theme explores the area's staying power, a permanence born of this community's ability to successfully reinvent itself according to the demands of each passing decade.

NEW EVENT

Music With a Green Twist!

BASH THE TRASH in Clunk the Junk!

The Environment, Story-telling, Instrument-building and Music making! For over 20 years Bash the Trash has been delighting audiences with their sold-out interactive programmes, collaborating with such institutions as New York's 92nd Street Y, Carnegie Hall and Mister Roger's Neighbourhood. Meet this group of New York-based musicians and educators who build and perform on instruments made from re-used and re-cycled junk. Their interactive workshop/concert for children aged 3-6 years is a journey into sound, science and instruments – all the while showing them how to keep the Earth clean.

In Clunk the Junk children will explore the Percussion Family – instruments that can be shaken, scraped and struck. Audience members will be able to build their own musical instruments and join the Bash the Trash band in a rousing musical story. Sure to be a hit!

Appropriate for ages 3-6
Families welcome!

Performance Times are
Sunday, Nov 7
11:00 am & 1:00 pm

This performance is 60 min. in length and will be interactive.

Children $9.00
Adults $16.00

The Artists in Communities Program Welcome Pat Beaton!

The Artists in Communities Program is based on principles of community cultural development and is funded by the Vancouver Board of Parks and Recreation in partnership with Community Centre Associations. Its purpose is to support artists working with communities on issues of joint interest or concern. This project is jointly sponsored by Art & Culture, Parks Board and The Sunset Association.

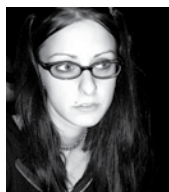

For more information on this program go to www.vancouver.ca/parks/arts/index.htm

HERE AND THERE —a Celebration of Community Engagement and Art

The Sunset Neighbourhood will meet Pat Beaton this spring as she introduces herself and invites your participation in a community arts based process called HERE AND THERE. Pat will be working with people in the neighbourhood to create new artworks that celebrate the life of Sunset; past and present. The finished artworks will remain on permanent display at the Sunset Community Centre, Moberly Hall and the Sunset Ice Rink.

An artist with a focus on printmaking, installation and community engagement, Pat has extensive experience creating community-engaged public art projects. She excels in pulling diverse elements together into a cohesive, visually interesting and meaningful public artwork.

Zee Kesler, our internship artist will work along side Pat throughout the process of HERE and THERE. Pat and Zee invite your participation in a community process full of ideas, gatherings and surprise encounters with art and exchange of local lore.

Designated Bulletin Boards of each site and www.art-hereandthere.blogspot.com will keep community members informed about the progression of this project. Check out when workshops and participatory encounters are scheduled for you to participate.

April – October 2010.

GARDENING in the Community

Dr Aimee Taylor will be providing gardening programs for the community. She is a registered Horticultural Therapist HTR and Soil Scientist PhD. She has worked on therapeutic horticulture programs with seniors, disabled adults and children. Dr. Taylor has helped establish a food garden for Sunset Daycare and accessible gardens for disabled adults at George Pearson Centre.

Growing Food is Fun!

Participate in a free demo on starting seeds indoors for food production in your garden. Fun ideas for gardening with children, small space vegetable and herb gardening and what to sow for success! Talk with Aimee about how gardening is good for your health as well as the end product, the fresh food. In the lobby at Sunset Community Centre.

FREE

Wednesday Mar 17

5:00pm-7:00 pm

Vegetable and Herb Gardening for seniors

Enjoy some herbal tea and excellent company whilst we discuss and sow the different vegetables we can grow here in Vancouver. Aimee can help you adapt your gardening techniques, and provide tips on how to grow food and keep healthy at the same time. Some seeds will be provided and please bring seed to share!

At Moberly Arts & Cultural Centre, 7646 Prince Albert St.

12:30-3:00pm

Gardening with Children

Starting plants from seeds are both interesting and relatively easy. The workshop includes safe and interesting plant selection for children, creating a space they can call their own and using containers. This will focus on how to start seed indoors and how to inspire your children to grow veggies they like to eat in their own garden, containers or window box. This is a must for beginners. Please note this is an adult/child workshop at Moberly Arts & Cultural Centre, 7646 Prince Albert St.
